Big Business and Politics. New Campaign Debate. No Truth Without Fear? Dry News From Missouri.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co

THE THEORY that big business men put big business ahead of everything seems unsound. Mr. Raskob dropped one of the biggest jobs in the country, the chairmanship of General Motors' financial board, to manage Governor Smith's campaign.

Now it is announced that Pierre S. du Pont, chairman of General Motors' board of directors and biggest owner of the world's biggest industrial corporation, will also resign to work for Governor Smith.

If Governor Smith believed in crests, and family mottoes, which he does not, he might select for his "Nemo Me Impune Lacessit."

Whoever wants a fight with him or an answer can get it.

Dr. Straton from his pulpit in Calvary Baptist Church, New York, called Governor Smith "the deadliest foe in America today of the force of moral progress and true political wisdom."

Immediately Governor Smith demands an opportunity to answer Dr. Straton from the same pulpit. And that he will do, rejecting the clergyman's suggestion that they hire Madison Square Garden for a bigger crowd.

It will be an interesting debate, something entirely new in a national campaign. Some of Dr. Straton's congregation feel that their church should not be used for political attacks, and that may start another row.

A lady in Alabama is accused of killing her husband. In fact, as he lay dying, he said she killed him.

The lady's ingenious lawyer says: "The dying man was an unbeliever, next door to an atheist, did not even believe in Hell. You can't take his testimony, because such a man would lie as readily, at death's door, as any other time."

Very interesting point to be settled by an Alabama judge. Some men might conceivably tell the truth, especially in such a delicate matter, even without the fear of Hell. In any case, the learned judge will probably look up the United States Constitution, which has something to say about religion.

Wets will be amazed at news of a dry victory in Missouri. Charles M. Hay running far ahead for United States senator, as a bone-dry candidate, appears to be nominated by the Democrats.

This is no test of Senator Reed's personal strength, although he opposed Hay. Reed retires from the Senate, after 18 years' service and much to the regret of his constituents.

But the Missouri vote is important, as it affects the national campaign theoretically. Republicans profess to be greatly pleased with the result.

Germans seem to have perfected a plane for ocean flight. The giant machine, all metal, weighing 26,000 pounds, rose easily from the water, with only 250 yards start, flew upward at a sharp angle, was easily handled, and responded to tests, landing on rough water.

This hydroplane, intended for passenger flights from Germany to South America, is a most important step toward real flying.

Eight oarsmen from California beat eight from Canada in the Olympic games yesterday. On the previous day, when Miss Wills of California wiped out a few competitors with ease, plus California players were included among fourteen that survived the tests.

There must be some advantage in the California climate that lets you grow, in sunlight, 12 months in the year.

J. Ramsay MacDonald says Britain and other nations should recognize Russia's government, "to promote peace in Europe."

He is right. The way to make Russia peaceful is to let her get RICH. A man on his way to the

'THROUGH WITH PUBLIC' SAYS GENE TUNNEY AT HOME OF RICH FIANCEE

BAY STATE A. F. OF L. SCORES POWER TRUST

By JOHN H. NOONAN.

Issue pending the greed of the power trusts in gobbling up the natural resources of America for private profit while sowing insidious propaganda to conceal their destructive aims, the State branch of the A. F. of L., in convention at Salem, adopted a resolution requesting Governor Fuller to investigate the electric power corporations of Massachusetts.

Following up this resolution, convention leaders declared in statements that the Hearst newspapers were to be lauded for throwing the spotlight so mercilessly on the vicious activities of the trusts.

Governor Fuller is appealed to in the resolution not only to launch a probe himself, but to enlist the cooperation of the other five New England Governors in a power investigation of wider scope.

150 WALK OUT FROM MILL IN FALL RIVER

The spread of the Fall River strike to the plant of the Algonquin Print Works, and resumption in New Bedford of the State's attempt to fix responsibility for the protracted labor troubles there, were the chief happenings in the two cities today.

Denied an increase in wages, 138 employees of the Algonquin plant walked out, leaving 270 workers still on the job.

The strikers had sought restoration of a 10 per cent wage reduction and arbitration of demands for changes in working conditions, including a 40-hour 5-day week and recognition of the Textile Mills Committee. Their demands were similar to those of the employes of the American Printing Co., and the Lincoln Mills, who quit work Monday.

Joseph Hindle, superintendent of the Algonquin plant, asked that the demands, submitted by a group from the Textile Mills Committee, be deferred until Monday because of the absence of the treasurer of the company.

The management of the plant announced it would continue to operate, notwithstanding the shortage of workers.

The strikers, headed by Fred Beal

'BRICKBOTTOM' RUM DIVES BOOST PRICES; SEIZE THREE DRUNKS

Thwarting a special police guard and defying the blockade of State troopers, proprietors of "joints" in "Brickbottom" and the "Gold Coast" sold liquor to regular customers today.

Instead of 25 cents a "shot" they charged 50 cents, however, because of the increased danger they ran in dispensing the contraband literally under the noses of the police.

Evidence to this effect was obtained in the arrest of two intoxicated men within the guarded area and further substantiated at the arraignment of one in East Cambridge District Court.

Charged with being drunk, Jeremiah Galvin of Hancock st., Cambridge, told the court he bought his liquor in "Brickbottom."

He said he knew of no blockade in the district and told Probation Officer William F. Donovan that the only thing out of the ordinary he noticed was a charge of 50 cents a

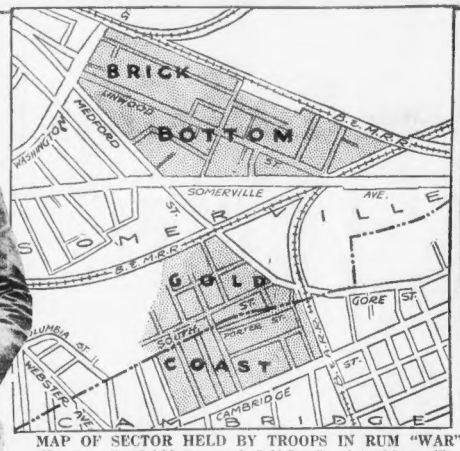
When State Troopers Clamp Lid On 'Brickbottom' and 'Gold Coast' They Make Speakeasies Dumb

State Trooper Everett J. Hall with two quarts of liquor.



MAP OF SECTOR HELD BY TROOPS IN RUM "WAR"

Map shows the "Brickbottom" and "Gold Coast" sections of Somerville, which surrendered to the State troopers when Dist.-Atty. Bushnell rushed his "army" into that sector. State troopers are to hold the fort there until the area is arid, Bushnell said. He's seeking padlocks to keep the rum joints shut.

INVASION BY "LAW'S ARMY" STIRS "BRICKBOTTOM" RESIDENTS

Photo shows part of the crowd that gathered at South and Medford sts. when State troopers swooped down upon the "Brickbottom" and "Gold Coast" sections of Somerville. Troopers blockaded the thoroughfares, and immediately began a systematic cleanup of "speakeasies" and other alleged "dives." The condition prevailing is almost equal to martial law, and is said to be without precedent in this State. Dist.-Atty. Bushnell said he was determined to wipe out liquor law violations there.

THREE ARRESTS FOR DRUNK IN 'BRICKBOTTOM' AREA

drink instead of the quarter which he had previously paid.

Galvin, who first told police his name was John J. Shea, was arrested by Secret Joseph Linehan of Cambridge as he walked across the line of the "Gold Coast" district from Somerville.

On recommendation of the probation officer, Judge Edward A. Counihan, Jr., placed his case on file.

The second arrest was that of a man who gave his name as Albert Harrington of Tremont st., Cambridge. Harrington was arrested in the Somerville "Gold Coast" district at Medford and Warren sts., while driving an automobile.

Patrolman Arthur W. Kelley, of Somerville, made the arrest, and placed a charge of driving under the influence of liquor against Harrington. Police sought to learn from him the location of the "den" in which he bought the liquor.

THREAT TO BUSHNELL

The rum war "to the death" developed an intensive search for the man who telephoned to Dist. Atty. Robert T. Bushnell, threatening to "get" him if he persisted in his war on "Brickbottom" liquor traffic.

The call was traced to a pay station in Somerville near the "Brickbottom" district.

Despite the evidence of some sales, many of the regular liquor establishments in the two districts were closed down today, a man familiar with the locations discovered on a round of visits.

Several proprietors with whom he talked declared they were "closed down flat." They said they either "dumped" or stored their liquor in "hides" before the arrival of the troopers.

LOSE SATURDAY

Most of them were considerably upset over the prospect of losing out on Saturday's business, and they did not seem to regard seriously the possibility that all business for them had ended within the areas under guard.

One clever "joint" contrivance was discovered by State troopers on a "Gold Coast" house never before suspected of boasting a "speakeasy." Built into the frame of the front door as high as a tall man could reach, troopers found a push-button for a bell located in an upstairs bar.

A constant lookout was stationed near the push-button and when the law bore into view a push on the bell button warned those upstairs. liquor was hidden and patrons departed quickly down the back stairs.

The stringent blockade established about the districts yesterday by state troopers and a squad of Cambridge police was not lessened today. At least one huge shipment of alcohol destined for "Gold Coast" distribution and consumption is known to have been held in Boston when it became apparent the blockade could not be run, police on duty announced.

This shipment was scheduled for receipt within the district by two men who supply the "joints" of "Brickbottom" and the "Gold Coast."

The troopers are prepared to stay a year in the districts, according to Dist. Atty. Bushnell, preventing any liquor cargo from entering the zone and selling any that may have been stored within its limits.

Dist. Atty. Bushnell already has swung his strategic guns into action and this equity session of Suffolk Superior Court will decide early next week whether or not his demands for padlocks upon 19 alleged liquor "joints" within the two districts will be granted.

The blockade scored its biggest victory so far today when the proprietor of a "den" in the "Gold Coast" packed up, bag and baggage, and moved out of the zone.

Only Chinese Vet of Civil War Visits Gloucester

Gloucester, Aug. 9—Edward D. Calista, only Chinese veteran of the Civil War, is spending a vacation in this city, which he regards as his home. Calista, taken from China as a cabin boy by the late Capt. Sargent S. Day in the '50s, was later adopted by the captain. During the Civil War the young Chinese enlisted in Co. I, 23d Regiment. After the Civil War he re-enlisted in the regular army and served 20 years as a soldier. He now makes his home at the National Sanitarium of South Dakota.

Brickbottom or Gold Coast War, Which?

Where is "Brickbottom?"
Where is the "Gold Coast?"

Somerville residents talked themselves hoarse today trying to explain as a result of the State police guard about that section of the city designated by Dist. Atty. Bushnell as "Brickbottom."

Three years ago, Arthur K. Reading called the same district "Brickbottom."

Neither Bushnell nor Reading, not being local boys, has an idea as to the boundary line of the real "Brickbottom," say Somerville residents, who claim that the police guard is almost wholly in the "Gold Coast" district.

"BRICKBOTTOM LAW-ABIDING"

One of the first to come to the fore today and defend the "Brickbottom" citizens was Atty. James F. Stynes.

"Most every raid that has been carried out," said Alderman Stynes, "was in the so-called Gold Coast region. There is very little, if any, bootlegging being done in Brickbottom. Liquor is being handled by the Gold Coast almost exclusively. People are confused with the names of the places. The real "Brickbottom is as law abiding a community as any anywhere."

Stynes was not directing his remarks at Bushnell. He said that he only wanted to make it plain to people that Brickbottom and the Gold Coast are separate communities. He said that several of his constituents have complained to him about the fair name of his ward being ill-advertised and that the time has come to point out the distinction between the two areas.

NAMED IN OLD DAYS

Stynes has lived in Somerville practically all of his life. It is his first term as alderman representing the two places, and that Ward 2, but he says that he has been living in and around it all of his life.

"Look over the court records," suggested Stynes, "and you will find that they bear me out in what I say. Brickbottom citizens are influential, prosperous, law-abiding people and it is a shame that the world at large should be given the impression that they are not.

"The name Brickbottom was given the section long before my time. I have heard it said that it goes back to the time when there were several brickyards where houses now stand but I have never gone into the actual history of the matter.

"With the Gold Coast section it has been different. That name gave birth but a few short years ago when the place was raided by troopers. It originated in the mind of one of the functionaries who was back of the raid. It should never have been confused with Brickbottom.

Stynes was asked to bound Brickbottom and then the Gold Coast. He did.

"Brickbottom," he said, "is bounded on the south by Somerville ave., the north by Washington st., the east by the Fitchburg Division of the B. & M. and on the west by Medford st.

"The Gold Coast is bounded by Cambridge st., Cambridge, Warren st., Medford st., Ward st. to Distillhouse st. to Cambridge st."

Chief of Police Charles A. Kendall and one of his former liquor officers admitted that the station house has, from time to time, been flooded with telephone calls from Brickbottom residents angered because they were being blamed for the situation in the Gold Coast region. He said that his men have always made the proper distinction when disturbers really is a great difference in the territories.

"Practically all of the raids," interrupted one officer, "have been in the Gold Coast territory. Brickbottom never has been troublesome, and prominent men who complain against the references that are made to the place are justified in doing it.

"The Gold Coast residents are mostly foreigners. The Brickbottom residents were originally Irish but do not comprise the majority now. There are many Greeks and Polish people settled there today. They are very orderly.

Chief Kendall had not heard of the padlock police being hidden away ready to curb bootlegging in the suspected zones but he was ready to bound both the Brickbottom and Gold Coast areas, as he understands the distinction.

"Brickbottom," he said, "runs thus: Lowell st., Joy st., northly side; Medford st., from Somerville ave. to Washington st.; Washington st., east side from Medford st. to the southern division of the Boston & Maine Railroad. Populer st., Maple st., Chestnut st., London st., Fitchburg st., Congress pl., runs a few alleys that run between these streets."

Chicago Girl Asks Lynn Police to Locate Father

Lynn police have been requested by a Chicago girl to locate her father, whom she has never seen. The unusual request came from Miss Laura Dixon of 1251 Western ave., Chicago. She explained that her father left home before she was born and her mother has since remarried. "Daddy would love me and I would love him," she wrote the police. She explained that she had reason to believe her father was somewhere in Massachusetts.

lands, Lake Wales and many other west coast towns the damage was like that at Jupiter, West Palm Beach, Ft. Pierce and other cities on the east coast.

Houses were uprooted, trees and shrubbery uprooted and windows broken. But the most damage was suffered by fruit growers and public utilities such as railroads and power and wire companies.

Damage that may exceed $5,000,000 was done on the east coast. Hundreds of orange and grapefruit orchards were ruined near Vero Beach, Stuart and Fort Pierce.

Fort Pierce officials estimated property damage there at $1,000,000, mostly in the business district.

In Stuart, citrus growers suffered heavily and a number of homes were damaged. Damage there also was estimated at $1,000,000. The roof of the Lyric Theatre was blown off.

Jupiter reported nearly 50 per cent of its buildings damaged.

Palm Beach suffered comparatively little.

Profiting by the havoc in Miami two years ago, towns on the east coast had taken out windstorm insurance, and thus their losses will not be so great.

Storm warnings have been hoisted in Mobile, Ala., on the Gulf coast.

of the Textile Mills Committee, formed a picket line which was not molested by the police.

The only event which resembled a disturbance occurred in the morning when police arrested two men distributing Textile Mills Committee circulars in the vicinity of the Lincoln Mill.

Peter Hegelias, assistant organizer for the Textile Mills Committee, was arraigned in district court charged with inciting a riot as a result of a disturbance last night near the American Printing Co. plant. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $1000 bail for a hearing Wednesday. Seven others arrested with him were charged with parading without a permit.

Nthan Durfee, treasurer of the American Printing Co., said one-third of the printing division of the plant, the only department affected by the strike, was in operation.

At the resumed meeting of the State board of conciliation and arbitration at New Bedford, Charles S. Kelley, statistical expert, said approximately 75 per cent. of the cotton mills of New Bedford found it impossible to secure orders permitting them to operate at a profit during the first quarter of 1929. He appeared before the board at the request of John Sullivan, president of the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers' Association. Both Kelley and Sullivan took issue with financial statements concerning the mills, made before the board yesterday by William E. G. Batty of the textile council.

Atty. Jacob Minkin, counsel for the strikers, attacked the testimony of Kelley. Several hundred strikers with their wives and children were unable to gain entrance to the small hearing hall in the Municipal Building, which seats only 125.

BRITISH JUDGE CALLS TRICK TOO STALE

Southampton, Eng., Aug. 9 (AP)—A stowaway trip to Europe aboard the steamship Aquitania is going to cost Miss Betty Simpson, twenty-five, of Ada, Oklahoma, four weeks in the jail at Winchester.

The American girl, who was accused of stowing away at least three times previously, was arrested on behalf of representatives of the Cunard line who declared that her story of finding herself on the liner at sea after taking some drinks and losing consciousness was false.

Miss Simpson pleaded that she met two young men on the pier in New York and at their invitation went aboard to have a drink. She had six drinks and remembered nothing more until she recovered consciousness the next day on the boat deck with the ship at sea.

A representative of the Cunard line said that this story was not true, Miss Simpson being quoted as telling one of the Cunard officials at Southampton that she had slipped on to the ship. Moreover, she had a parcel containing a change of clothing and also a number of picture postcards describing herself as "Betty Simpson, all around the world."

The police superintendent at Southampton told the magistrate that Miss Simpson on being informed of the charge and asked what she pleaded, responded, "Yes, sir."

After hearing the evidence in the case, the magistrate, in imposing sentence, remarked:

"We are going to stop her little escapades."

Bar 'Rum Smelling' Warrants to Raid Private Homes

Washington, Aug. 9 (AP)—Assistant Secretary Lowman of the prohibition unit said that "smelling" warrants, through which prohibition agents sometimes raided private dwellings would no longer be used.

Heretofore, when an agent smelled something he believed was brewing or distilling of alcoholic beverages in a private dwelling he could obtain a search warrant and investigate the premises. The new ruling makes warrants necessary to search private homes, the warrants to be obtained only upon evidence of sale of liquor on the premises.

ASK PERMIT FOR SACCO MEETING ON COMMON

A permit for a Sacco-Vanzetti memorial mass meeting on the Common, on August 22, the first anniversary of the execution of the two aliens, has been applied for by the International Labor Defense, it was disclosed today.

Request for the permit for use of the Common and Parkman bandstand was made to Mayor Nichols ten days ago, according to Joseph A. Berman, who made the announcement for those planning the meeting.

Absence of the mayor at Duxbury is the reason for delay in acting on the request, it was said at City Hall.

"In the opinion of the committee in charge of the meeting, no valid reason exists for a refusal to granting to Berman a permit," said Berman, who announced that among the men invited to speak is Benjamin Gitlow, vice-presidential candidate on the Workers' Party ticket. Harry J. Canter will act as chairman, according to Berman.

3 BOY CYCLISTS SEIZED IN LYNN BURGLARIES

A bicycling crime wave, studded with candy and gum, was nipped decisively in Lynn early today when three juvenile wheelmen, tousled of hair and wearied of frame, were arrested as they slumbered beside their toothsome loot in a vacant Lynn house.

In a shed at the rear of the house were cubbied their "high-powered" glistening steeds of steel, one with a flat tire.

And only last week, the nocturnal trio—12, 15 and 16 years of age—wound up a year's probation for burglaries committed when they were but 12, 14 and 15.

Two cartons of cigarets pillowed the head of one boy as the policeman's flashlight picked out the sleeping form. A second youth had his motionless arm curled about a package containing 20 bars of chocolate. And the third employed a carton of cigarets and two two-pound boxes of chocolates for a head rest.

The loot is alleged to have been obtained at stores four miles apart, one in Nahant and one in Lynn.

After the arrest, the boys admitted that they had been riding their bicycles most of the night and had wheeled the four miles to Nahant for their first store burglary.

Coming back to Lynn in the early hours, they then burgled a store in Prospect st. At both places they stole candy, gum, cigarettes and cigars and in neither place was the cash register or till disturbed.

They will be arraigned in juvenile court next Wednesday.

'WOMEN BIG FOOLS,' SAYS JUDGE, FREEING 'SEER'

"Case filed. The women are big fools." This remark by Judge Charles J. Brown in East Boston court today ended the arraignment of Richard Sullivan, accused of extracting $3 from three women for a demonstration of palm reading. He found the women in a doorway on Chelsea st. They crossed his palm with silver and he looked at their palms. Then he told them to shut their eyes for 10 minutes.

While they were complying he started softly for the nearest corner, but, like Lot's wife, one of the women surrendered to her curiosity and looked. Result, a scream, a policeman and arrest for Sullivan, but he got off with a warning to leave the district.

TUNNEY TO MARRY SOCIETY HEIRESS, KIN OF CARNEGIE FROM TODAY'S HERALD

FIRST HUB PAPER TO TELL OF HIS ENGAGEMENT

The news that Champion Gene Tunney and "Polly" Lauder, $50,000,000 heiress of Greenwich, Ct., were engaged to wed was made the big story in the Boston morning papers today, as shown above, but it was no news to readers of the Boston Evening American, who first read about it in the American two days ago on Tuesday. It was for the American only one more peice of news that was printed ahead of any other Boston paper. To be first with the news is the kind of service the American gives its readers.

With Mrs. Phillips in her battle to make her divorced husband, Alger MacCready of Revere, relinquish custody of the boy, is the father's own mother and sister. A Texas court gave Mrs. Phillips custody, but MacCready obtained the boy for visit and refused to give him up. He was charged with kidnaping and his mother obtained a writ of habeas corpus.

WARNER DROPS WARREN TRIAL VERDICT PROBE

Investigation of the verdict of not guilty by the jury in the trial of Francis Edgar Stanley Warren, wealthy Back Bay youth, who was charged with manslaughter in an automobile case, was dropped today by Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner.

"I have been unable to discover sufficient facts to substantiate allegations made subsequent to that verdict or to warrant official action by my office," said the attorney-general.

"I have diligently looked into all the alleged facts made known to me, which purported to verify rumors of irregularities, and I also made independent inquiries."

Young Warren's automobile was alleged to have killed Miss Margaret Duchez at Commonwealth ave. and Dartmouth st. on February 3.

THIEF STEERS OFFICER IN THE WRONG DIRECTION

Pawtucket, R. I. Aug. 9 (AP)—Mistaking a thief for a citizen presental Patrolman Horace Pildsley from catching a gang of crooks here this morning.

The policeman was told the New England Supply Company was being ransacked. Pildsley drew his revolver to arrest a youth in the doorway when the youth said: "Take the gun off me. They just ran toward the river." Pildsley dashed for the river, the youth and his pals scurried in the opposite direction.

COHASSET COLONY BUSY PREPARING FOR HORSE SHOW, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Youngsters to Feature at South Shore Fete Aug. 17; Hub Steeds at Saratoga

THE TRAINING RING AT MRS. THOMAS JAMES' COHASSET place is a busy spot. Small and shaggy ponies and rangy steeds, having youthful Cohassetters as owners, are being put through their paces, all in preparation for a ring appearance on August 17. The equines may wonder, in their hearts, just what all this intense activity presages. Never before have their days been so energetically ordered. But youthful Blakes, Bremers, Gagnebins, Baldwins, Birds, et cetera, desire that their Shetland and Welsh ponies put the best foot forward, at the show, and so are "schooling" for that purpose.

COHASSET OF the OLDER GENERATIONS IS JUST AS KEEN as the youngsters, for the coming show. I saw Mrs. William Gagnebin, slim and supple as a boy, riding along a leafy Cohasset byway on one of her stable prides. Last year Mrs. Gagnebin, along with Hugh Bancroft, led the Cohasset cohorts in staging their interesting show. This year she is again enrolled in executive capacity, also as an exhibitor, and helping generally to make the wheels go smoothly. Being born a Mandell, and having ingrained the adoration of fine horseflesh, Mrs. Gagnebin is right in her element at this sort of thing.

TEMPORARILY, AT LEAST, RICHARD B. ADAM, WELL KNOWN artist from Munich and recently a Boston guest at the Hotel Sherator, has forsaken the Hub. He was in town to execute several important commissions, and now is in his New York studio for the express purpose of doing some oils that will adorn the galleries of certain multi-millionaire establishments. The fluffy haired Countess Sylvia Szechenyi has been done by Mr. Adam. The little girl on the distaff side inherits Vanderbilt family prestige, being daughter to the former Miss Gladys of that clan and granddaughter of Mrs. Vanderbilt.

PETEE WRACK'S FLYING HEELS BEAT A SMART TATTOO down the Saratoga track, carrying the Macomber blue and gold to victory and carrying into the heart of his owner, John Macomber, untold joy. Gloriously is Mr. Macomber's faith in his promising horse vindicated. Just as close friends of that fine and enthusiastic horseman knew his hopes would be fulfilled. There stretches many a mile between Boston and the famous upper New York State Spa that is and has been racing's very heart. But miles cannot cool the intense interest ever so many Bostonians feel for Petee Wrack and his race course future.

CERTAIN FAVORITE NAGS FROM FLYING HORSE, TUCKERMAN and Macomber stables have made the long, but luxuriously done journey to Saratoga. Boston's representation of four-footed brilliant performers is a very fine one. Not so of the Boston genus homo. Bostonians, except in very few instances, get their racing thrills vicariously via the wire, as when Petee Wrack comes flying in a winner. It's your Macombers, Tuckermans, Cushmans, and such, who have a master passion for the fleet footed steeds and the oval track, who go over to New York State to see the horses run.

MRS. NATHANIEL FRANKLIN EMMONS HIES HERSELF SARATOGA-WARD in the not far distant future. She takes to the famous Spa a marvelous wardrobe enriched with all the latest trinkets and accessories a Paris of infinite variety and ingenuity can manufacture for American display. For the most part Mrs. Emmons will create an effect, in white; that tintless color predominating in a collection of frocks and hats sufficiently numerous to satisfy even an exacting debutante. In Mrs. Emmons' favor black runs white a close second. Ergo, the midnight color in wide chapeaux and simple frocks, also abounds.

THE EMMONS WARDROBE, LIKEWISE, CONTAINS THE simplest of morning frocks to be worn when Mrs. Emmons is living aboard ship, on the quaint Dutch hoogar that flies the Emmons pennant and usually is to be found at anchor in Buzzards Bay waters. Its odd lines and queer rig would distinguish the craft from all others, even were it not decorated as gaily as a floating tea shop. It does in fact resemble a tea shop, afternoons, to the extent that Mrs. Emmons serves the steaming cup to friends whom she has aboard specially for the afternoon rite.

ERUDITE CANTABRIGIANS ARE TO HAVE A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY to add to their erudition this autumn. Very deep subjects are to be gone into, via the lecture platform and a super brilliant coterie of savants hailing from Harvard's classic halls and other equally important collegiate centers. Names that stand for culture, fine tradition and all that sort of thing, are listed as sponsors. Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer is down as one. And what well worth while movement in and about Boston does not have this august person's sanction?

MRS. JOSEPH THORPE, MRS. ROBERT G. DODGE, MRS. JOSEPH ALEXANDER McCORD, Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, and Mrs. Ruth Hornblower Alkins are names adorning the cards which have gone out on the most select of subscription lists. Seekers after higher culture may imbibe deep facts and much information Mondays, from November to April, within the pleasant confines of the Hotel Commander.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

Summer visitors:

Filene's basement is a Boston landmark

Please don't return to your home in the West, South or North without visiting it. Some of your friends are sure to ask you —"Did you see Bunker Hill monument? Did you go to Plymouth? Did you motor along the North Shore? And did you go to Filene's basement?"

There is nothing in the United States quite like it. Here are a few of the "differences" that have made it famous:

—a $250,000 cooling and ventilating system keeps it cool and airy on the hottest days.

—there are always crowds there, buying and walking through —it has no "free services"; no free deliveries, no alterations, no elevators, no charge accounts, etc.

—it sells very high-grade goods, as well as the lower grades. For example, recently it had a Foreign Bargain Fair at which a woman on the North Shore bought an English pewter snuff box and a vinaigrette for $16. Later she took them to an expert on antiques who said they were made about 1745, and offered her a premium on them.

—it often buys the stocks of Boylston street specialty stores and sells them out in half a day.

—the very rich and those in moderate circumstances rub shoulders there, each buying his own kind of goods, but both at savings.

—it gives to charitable institutions any goods unsold after 30 selling days and automatically reduces anything unsold after 12 days as follows:

anything unsold in 12 selling days, reduced 25%
anything unsold in 18 selling days, reduced 50%
anything unsold in 24 selling days, reduced 75%
anything unsold in 30 selling days, Given Away.

A cordial invitation is given you to visit Filene's Basement. You will not be urged to buy.

MILITARY RITES FOR OFFICER C. A. LEWIS

A military funeral, commensurate with his brave deeds and excellent record as a patrolmen and traffic officer at Dewey sq., was tended the late Clarence A. Lewis today as an escort of 24 men, headed by police executives, accompanied the body to St. Mark's Church, Dorchester.

Color bearers, buglers and two motorcycle officers preceded the cortage as it slowly wended its way through Dorchester from Sheptom st. to the church, and then to Mt. Hope Cemetery. There a volley of shots were fired, a last tribute to one of Boston's finest lawenforcers.

A solemn requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Augustus C. Dulin, assisted by Rev. William S. Twohig, deacon and Rev. Francis Cummings, subdeacon.

The escort headed by Capt. Lewis Lutz, Lt. Thomas Kavanaugh, and Sgt. Thomas Wolf with a firing squad of eight men followed the body from his home. Supt. Crowley, Capt. Hoppe, and Acting Capt. Mathew Killen worep resent, as was Albert Fish, City Councilor.

Pallbearers, all friends of the deceased whose many years of service brought him conspicuous attention from his superiors, were Patrolmen James McLaughlin, James Naylor, John Lovins, John Ward, Martin Quinn, J. A. Kelley, Edward Noonan and Everett Bloddick.

He is survived by a wife and father, George E. Lewis, a retired police officer.

POLISH FLIER TELLS ABOUT THRILLING RESCUE AT SEA

By MAJ. LOUIS IDZIKOWSKI
Commander of the Airplane Marsz-lek Pilsudski on Her Attempted Transatlantic Flight

(Copyright, 1928, in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, Germany, South America and Cuba by the King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part absolutely prohibited. Violation of copyright will be vigorously prosecuted.)

This is a continuation of Maj. Idzikowski's own story of the attempted flight and rescue, which began exclusively in yesterday's Boston Evening American.

Oporto, Portugal, Aug. 9—On the way to the Azores we found the wind against us. We knew we might easily miss the islands in the fog, and had even if we did find them that it would be very difficult to effect a landing.

We realized that we must, as soon as possible, reach the western winds north of the Azores. So Kubala laid our course towards the northwest. We felt sure we would find the western winds due to low pressure north of the islands, and, using them, we could head over steamship lanes for the coast of Spain.

It will not be hard to understand how heavy were our hearts when we realized the impossibility of reaching our goal. Most of all we were saddened because we inflict needs disappoint our government, which had entrusted us with the great undertaking for the glory of Poland.

MORE REGRETS

Then there was the thought that the great, hospitable American nation was waiting to welcome us. And that our countrymen there were hoping to receive us with honor. We were filled with regret that we may be deprived of our chance to see the great New World in which we are so interested.

But there was little time for regrets. We knew we must choose the straightest route and avoid every mile of costly deviation from our newly laid out course.

I concentrated my efforts on piloting and watching the oil pressure gauge, which was steadily moving to the left. Kubala was kept busy with observations to keep us from slipping off our course. Night was fast drawing upon us, but the visibility became better because the sky was clearing.

Our sextant, the new Plyer-Lepetite type, enabled Kubala to fix our position with the utmost accuracy. We were flying just above a 500-meter thick blanket of fog. The sextant permitted Kubala to make several observations in the space of a minute without removing his eye from the instrument.

THROWN OFF COURSE.

Particularly by night can exact observations be made. For then the polar star can be used as a base in computing longitude and latitude, from the point of 41.30 north 24 west we had south and later west winds aiding us.

When we reached 42 north 24.8 west at 2:30 our speed was 200 kilometers. Then we nosed into an area of low clouds and thick fog. We were again thrown badly off our course for several hours.

Whenever we sighted ships, we circled them to get our bearings, with which we checked our compass. At about 6:40 we were able to adjust our course by new observations. We were then at 45 north, 15 west.

After we met the steamships Aztec and Amakura, we felt that the oil pressure was sufficient to justify our going on. The motor was running with smooth precision and the temperature of the oil and water was normal. This gave us hope that we might yet save our ship by landing it on the European shore.

We nursed our engine along with the greatest care, so that it might suffer as little as possible from the leak. We throttled it down to a minimum to keep it from overheating because of losses of oil.

Soon we found ourselves entering the low-pressure area between the Azores and England. First there was a southwest wind; then there was a period of calm, followed by the western wind we had hoped for. We were now flying at between 135 and 140 kilometers an hour, in perfect weather and a sea as calm as plate glass.

We were nearing Spain, our hopes arose. At 8:40 we were at 45 north and 18 west and had 700 kilometers to go. Kubala was scanning the horizon as though he already expected to see land. Shadows and clouds were often mistaken for land by us both, though we knew we were still far from land.

Then we saw morning mists, and Ory was upon us again. Our excitement grew when our oil gauge registered a rapidly falling pressure with land but 100 kilometers away. Then we realized that our motor might die at any moment and began to make preparations.

Kubala prepared our rubber boat and started to get out of some of his clothes, advising me to do the same.

Then, at 11:30 we got an intense breath of burning oil fumes, and we knew that the end was near. By this time we were on a ship lane and soon we sighted two vessels. We dropped a note to one of them telling them we were about to land alongside.

The message was in a can, which was picked up by the vessel and a life boat was immediately lowered. There was just enough life left in our motor to head us on to the wind. We landed with the motor already dead.

I made the landing successfully. The plane's tail touched the water first, then the lower wing tips. Then it seemed only a moment before we were in the lifeboat.

Our ship was floating easily on the smooth water. The captain of the vessel agreed to pull it aboard, but the hoists were weak, and due to its immense weight, the plane was badly damaged as it was pulled up. The hull was injured and the wings broken.

This, it will be realized, was a terrible blow. Our main consideration when we found we could not reach our objective was to save the ship for our government.

The point where we landed was 42.2 north 10.7 west. We were but 80 kilometers off Cape Finisterre. The time was 11:40 a. m. The next morning we were greeted with salutes at Oporto. The authorities personally welcomed us, and we began receiving cables of joy that we had not lost our lives.

But there is still sorrow in our hearts. We are sad at the thought of failing to accomplish what we had planned for so long, and for which we had worked so hard.

Toy Balloon Travels in Air 1750 Miles

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 9 (AP)—Justice of the Peace Thomas J. Rubino sent up a toy balloon during an Italian celebration here July 21. A note attached to it asked the finder to communicate with him.

Tonight Mr. Rubino received a letter from John Adams of Albuquerque, N. M., who said that when he went to the roof of his home on the night of August 6 to repair his radio aerial he found Rubino's deflated balloon. The air distance between the two cities is approximately 1750 miles.

ATTEMPT TO CRACK SAFE IN CEMETERY OFFICE

An unsuccessful attempt to open the safe in the office of St. Michael's Cemetery, Walk Hill st., Jamaica Plain, was discovered by cemetery employes today. The combination had been knocked off but the doors were unopened. A week ago a similar safe break was attempted in the office of Mt. Benedict Cemetery nearby.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the To Rent columns.

FARES ARE LOWERED FOR HARVEST HANDS

Boston's unemployed, really seeking work, may find it in the wheat fields of Western Canada, where 530,000,000 bushels, requiring the employment of 60,000 men, must soon be harvested. The need for men is so urgent, according to J. E. Laforce, general agent of the colonization and traffic department of the Canadian National Railways, that exceptionally low fares are being offered men travelling to the wheat fields. Laforce is in Boston today on railway business.

A special excursion of workers will leave Montreal by rail on August 14, he said. Anyone interested may get information from T. E. P. Pringle, 333 Washington st.

Providence, Aug. 9—Plans are now nearing completion for celebration of the sesquicentennial anniversary, August 29, of the battle of Rhode Island, regarded by many historians as one of the most important engagements of the Revolutionary War.

London, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Archbishops of Canterbury and York today issued a statement advising the clergy of the parish churches of England to offer prayers of thanksgiving on the occasion of the signing of the Kellogg anti-war pact in Paris on August 27.

"The occasion is a great one in the contemporary history of the world," the statement said.

Pola, Italy, Aug. 9 (AP)—The last message sent by the undersea wireless operator aboard the Italian submarine F14 which was interrupted by death in the Pola naval disaster, was:

TURK THE MOST 'HENPECKED OF HUSBANDS'

Williamstown, Aug. 9 (AP)—A new picture of harem life, in which the Turk was painted as the most henpecked of husbands, was given the Institute of Politics today by Madame Halide Edib, Turkish feminist.

In olden times the ruling classes did maintain harems according to the Western conception, but even then the women were influential and through bribery and palace intrigue, ruled the sultan and the state from behind the veil.

"It is scarcely possible to imagine what bloody events were brought to pass through their secret and pernicious influence," Mme. Edib said.

"Harem' in the ordinary sense of the word is really equivalent to the Anglo-Saxon word 'home,' and has a sacred and exclusive significance," she continued. "The harems of high society were centers of family life. The women busied themselves with the needs of their homes and ruled their husband and home with a rod of iron.

"They never willingly accepted polygamy, and if a man from their humble centers dared to do such a thing his wife saw to it that he was punished to the end of his life.

"The Turkish husband is a surprisingly henpecked one, and Turkish wives make it their business to see that he continues to be so, in spite of Byzantine example and the Islamic privilege of men."

BROKER DIES IN 14-STORY FALL

Philadelphia, Aug. 9 (AP)—Arthur Hamilton Vail, manager of the Philadelphia offices of Halsey, Stuart & Co., investment brokers, today fell to his death from the 14th floor of the Packard building where the company's offices are located.

Vail fell only a few minutes after he arrived at his desk, screened from the remainder of the office by a ground glass partition. He apparently got up and walked to a window while still wearing his hat which was found wedged on his head when his body was picked up.

In his fall Vail struck a skylight of a clothing store, shattering the glass and causing consternation among the employes of the cutting department.

Vail was 47 years old and was born in Witney, Neb. He was a graduate of Harvard.

A few hundred dollars wisely invested in Boston real estate now, will be worth thousands in a few years. See the wonderful property values offered today in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads.

ONE OVERCOME BY HEAT

One hea prostration today marked the return of normal August weather temperatures to Greater Boston.

Lazare Leblanc, 44, of 228 Rindge ave., No. Cambridge, was overcome in his home and removed to Cambridge City Hospital for treatment.

Fair weather without much change one way or the other in temperatures is promised by the weather forecaster for about 36 hours, at least, taking through Friday. There are a couple of storms on the weather map, but both are of little intensity.

Judging from the maps and information from Washington, the Florida storm is not moving up the coast, according to local experts.

Smith to Attend Brennan Rites

Albany, Aug. 9 (AP)—Gov. Smith has decided to go to Chicago to attend the funeral of George E. Brennan, leaving for the West this evening on the 20th Century Limited, which would put him in Chicago at 9:45 a. m. (Central time) tomorrow.

Eat Plenty of Fish At Island Home of Gene's Fiancee

South Bristol, Me., Aug. 9—They eat thoroughly at the camp of "Polly" Lauder, fiancee of Gene Tunney.

Capt. Al Harrington, major-domo at the Lauder camp, nosed a boat through fog and mist to the mainland today to make the day's purchases. These are what he bought:

Forty pounds of ice, six quarts of milk, two pints of cream, four dozen eggs, four and one-half pounds of halibut, four pounds of mackerel, six packages of soda crackers.

The fish purchase was marveled at by natives, inasmuch as John's island, on which the camp is situated, is a parcel of land surrounded by fish, and Gene Tunney is reported to be out fishing daily.

TUNNEY IS OUT OF 'PICTURES', HE ASSERTS

By motorboat, the reporter was taken to the rear of John's Island where the Lauder summer home is located.

Through the surf and over rocks the reporter plunged and bumped, eluded three guards and knocked at the front door of the camp.

A butler denied that Tuney was present. Then Mrs. Lauder came to the door. Graciously, she waved the butler back and said that "Mr. Tunney would see the visitor."

Gene entered the rustic room. Almost without questioning he began his speech:

"I am a private citizen," he said. "I intend to remain so and my picture will never be taken again.

"If my picture is ever taken from this day on, it will be without my knowledge.

"If a man announced in England that he was retired to private life, the public over there would never bother him again."

The reporter inquired if Gene meant the public that had bestowed $2,000,000 on him, but Tunney did not hear, apparently.

"The public," continued the ex-hitchhiker, "would not rush in to shake his hand and tear his clothes in the rush.

"I don't believe it would be proper for me to add or substract to or from (Tunney was very specific on the 'to or from') Mrs. Lauder's formal announcement in the papers.

"I am out of the public eye and I don't see why newspapers should follow me now."

The reporter, wet to the hips, suggested that the newspapers had placed Tunney before the public eye for month after month without much previous objection on his part.

"The newspapers have done a lot for me," Tunney agreed, "and I am grateful for it.

"But my family does not care for pictures in newspapers, and my mother and sisters have never been photographed by newspapers in all this time.

"Those now dear to me also do not care for pictures. Miss Lauder will not be photographed."

His 21-year-old fiance's command and ultimatum led Gene to relinquish the heavyweight title, it was understood here today.

Tunney, as announced exclusively in the Boston Evening American Tuesday, will be married to Miss Lauder in the late autumn or winter.

She is "Polly" to her pals, this girl to whom, some day, $50,000,000 will accrue from the enormous fortunes piled up by her grandfather and then her father.

The retired champion, however, unlike her girl friends, calls his pretty fiancee "Jo."

In addition to the talk of Polly's having agreed to become the ex-Marine's bride only on condition that he give up the ring, there was much speculation today on the matter of the couples' different religious beliefs.

Miss Lauder is an Episcopalian, while Tunney is a Catholic. Not so long ago, Gene was reported to be headed toward the priesthood.

It was understood today, however, that the matter of religious difference was thoroughly threshed out by the couple before announcement of the engagement.

The wedding "will likely take place in New York in the late autumn or winter," according to the formal announcement of the bride-to-be's mother.

Under idyllic conditions, the undefeated ex-champion and his fiancee are still on the magnificent Lauder summer estate on John's Island, from which reporters, photographers and other outsiders are barred.

GREETED BY FIANCEE

The engagement of Tunney and Miss Josephine Lauder came as the culmination of a romance which started five years ago when the champion was introduced to "Polly" Lauder, then a school girl of 16.

The champion came here in a public auto from Newcastle, the nearest railroad point to Damariscotta, and after waiting a short while was whisked to the Lauder estate in a launch, containing his fiancee and two others.

Can a Girl Have Too Much Feminine Appeal?

CHAPTER 22

IF Mrs. Carmondy ever got an eyeful from behind her front parlor lace curtains it was late that afternoon when Howard Wescott drove up in front of the Carmondy in his sporty roadster, and Jerry Durant followed so closely in his that Howard hadn't time to alight before Jerry was calling "Hello."

Jerry knew Howard very slightly, but Jerry was the kind of person who was a hail-fellow-well-met, willing to take anybody up at a moment's notice. Things were easy come and easy go with Jerry. He always seemed to have a new job, yet he always seemed to have money, too.

Nancy had heard him speak of his "clients," and concluded that he sold bonds, but bond selling was the farthest thing from Jerry's activities.

Both jumped out of their cars at the same time, but Wescott was the first up the steps. He rang the bell and before Jerry could make it clear that this was an unnecessary procedure at The Carmondy, Mrs. Carmondy, herself, was at the door. It probably was the quickest move she had made in months. She was determined to get a close-up of Howard Wescott.

The two men entered on her invitation and started up the stairs.

Nancy heard the talking in the hall below and suspected just what had happened. She had told Wescott she would be ready exactly at four and all he needed to do was to blow his horn and she would come down. She did not want him to come into The Carmondy.

Nancy was no snob, but she knew Wescott would be shocked by the dinginess of the rooming house.

The two men were well up toward the second floor when Nancy bounded down from the floor above.

"Mr. Wescott! Jerry! Please wait. Ginger and I will be ready in a minute. Would you just as soon wait in your cars?"

Wescott said "Certainly, certainly. I'm sorry. The landlady told us to come right up."

He started to descend.

"Say, since when have you gotten so flitsy," Jerry spoke up. "You talk as though you never let anyone come up to your room before. Come on, Wescott, she's just trying to give us the high hat."

Nancy had no answer. She could not deny that Jerry and some of his companions had been in her room, but they had come on Ginger's invitation, not hers.

Nancy wouldn't have wanted her best friend to see the room, much less a stranger. Ginger's clothing was lying everywhere. The dresser was a confusion of spilled powder, burnt matches. The bed was unmade.

"Come on, Wescott," Jerry repeated, pulling the half reluctant Howard up the stairs, "Nancy thinks you'll be shocked if you see her bed isn't made, or maybe a teddy bear peeking out of the closet."

Jerry laughed loudly. Nancy could have screamed. She wanted to beat her fists against him. She turned to Wescott.

"You can come upstairs if you want to. What Jerry says is not true."

"How about your luggage?" Jerry asked. "I know how much junk Ginger always takes on her trips. Say, by the time Wescott and I are through carting it out we'll be fit to join the trunk movers' union."

He took Wescott by the arm again and half yanked him up the second flight. Ginger, hearing the commotion, leaned over the top bannister. She had heard the last part of the conversation, just enough to know there was some hesitation on the part of Wescott.

"Sure, come on up, Mr. Wescott," she said with honey in her voice, "the room looks a perfect sight, but I know you won't mind. You see, we've been just rushed to death and I haven't had a minute to do a thing."

Oh, what an actress Ginger was. Nancy groaned. She thought of Ginger's warning to stay away from "that big bum" and she remembered how she had told her Wescott "took what he wanted."

Now she was actually cooing at him. The two men were at the top of the stairs before Nancy had moved from the second landing.

When they had entered, Ginger half ran down the stairs and whispered impatiently:

"For cryin' out loud, what you tryin' to do? Say, if you want to get anything out of this guy Wescott you've got to be sweet to him. Maybe you don't trust him. That's all right, but don't let him suspect it. Treat him right, but just don't let him go too far, that's all. Use your head but don't be an icicle."

What a girl, Ginger! After living with her this long, Nancy was still unable to fathom her.

She was twenty, certainly, and knew how to play cards, especially as far as men were concerned, but Nancy was too new to this game of card playing to keep pace with her.

Without answering Nancy ran up the stairs and into the room.

Nancy hurried to the one window and flung it open.

"My bag is all ready. It's over there, Mr. Wescott. Please take it. I'll be right down."

Once they were in the car, Nancy said:

"You can start right away, Mr. Wescott. I don't think we need wait for the others."

She said the words, quietly, calmly, trying to give no indication of what was going on inside her. She tried to be casual when her cheeks were burning with shame, when she felt like bursting into tears.

What would he think of her? How would he judge her? Why hadn't she gotten a room of her own after she received her first week's pay, instead of heeding Ginger's advice to stay on so that they could split the rent.

"You can save money," Ginger had said.

Saving money on eighteen dollars a week was pretty much of a prob

WALKS 200,000 MILES IN 40 YEARS AS MAILMAN

Brockton, Aug. 9—After averaging 26 miles a day for the last 40 years on his postal route, George W. Wilder, 15 Wilmington st., figures he has traveled 200,000 miles.

But he likes it for his health's sake and has just been granted his third extension of two years beyond the retirement age.

Corn Beef, Cabbage Typical U. S. Dish

During the current discussion aroused by the National Corn Beef and Cabbage contest being conducted by the Boston Evening American in co-operation with 400 others that publish "Bringing Up Father," the famous comic strip by George McManus, there has been much analysis of the merits of the dish that is almost a national institution.

Among the merits of corn beef and cabbage that have been pointed out are:

1—It is savory.

2—It is filling, a meal in itself.

3—Always served steaming hot, it has an odor that in itself creates appetite.

4—It is inexpensive.

5—It is a year-around dish.

6—It has the essential health elements, being laden with vitamins.

7—It is easy to prepare.

8—It requires no sauces, though ketchup or horseradish are sometimes used.

9—It is a plain dish for honest appetites that require no stimulation, and

10—It is as typically American as the "hot dog."

Full details of the national corn beef and cabbage contest will be found in a display advertisement in another column.

RAP STORY OF KILLING BY BRIDE

New York, Aug. 9 (INS)—Prosecuting forces of Queen's County massed today to attack the story of red-haired Frances Kirkwood that she killed her youthful husband, Dr. Glenn Kirkwood, in a struggle for possession of a lead knife.

Every doctor that handled Kirkwood's body was summoned to the office of District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe to examine whether the woman followed the trail of Ruth Brown Snyder.

One expressed the opinion that the knife could not be made certain operations on Kirkwood's wrists, in a hand-to-hand struggle.

Yet the 22-pound bride insists she was about to end her life when her husband attempted to wrest the knife from her.

GIRL HURT, FIVE SHAKEN UP, AS AUTO HITS BUS

Ashburnham, Aug. 9—One girl was injured and five other members of the same family shaken up when the automobile in which they were riding was in collision with a Boston & Maine auto bus on the hill on the state road in South Ashburnham.

According to Boston & Maine officials the car was operated by Madeline Moockal, who, with her family, lives in Pine st., Fitchburg, and who claimed to have been blinded by the lights of the bus.

With her in the car were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian W. Moockal, and her sisters, Priscilla, Marion and Constance, all of whom were shaken up.

The bus was operated by M. F. Chapman, foreman of the B. & M. garage at Fitchburg, who was driving it deadhead from Boston for delivery at Keene, N. H., this morning to take out a special party.

Chapman reported that he was climbing the hill at a speed of 15 miles an hour, and was well over to the right when the Moockal auto coming from the opposite direction, crashed into the left front wheel of the bus. The bus driver told his superiors that his steering gear was wrecked and the crankcase dented. He took the name of the girl driver of the car, together with that of her parents and turned his information over to state troopers who appeared a short time later. Chapman quoted the girl driver as saying the collision was due to her being blinded by the bus lights.

Chapman then went to Fitchburg where he arranged to have the damaged bus towed to the garage today.

WOMAN BRIBER OF COP JAILED

Haverhill, Aug. 9—Mrs. Lesiska of Corliss Hill, in district court today, was sentenced to three months and fined $100 on conviction of attempting to bribe Motorcycle Officer William J. Murphy. She appealed and was held in $500.

The woman admitted giving Murphy $50 when police raided her premises for liquor, on July 29, but said it was for bail. Murphy testified the money was given him to get the other officers away. The woman's husband, Anthony, earlier in the day, was given 80 days in jail and fined $100 on liquor charges.

ONE CASE IN WATERTO'N TODAY

The eighth death occurred today in the infantile paralysis epidemic in Waltham and Watertown when the dreaded malady claimed the life of Ronald Wetherbee, eight months, of Edenfield st., Watertown.

As this child died, 15 persons were at Waltham Hospital offering blood from which curative serum might be made and five other former sufferers from the disease were giving some of their blood at their homes.

One new case was reported in Watertown, none in Waltham, where Dr. Elliott Luther and Dr. Benjamin Fuller expressed the belief that the epidemic is being checked.

The new Watertown case is that of Frank Connors, 10, of Palfrey st.

'SHOOTING OFFICER' ON JOB

Despite the reported furore over the shooting of two Charlestown youths by a policeman who fired at a speeding automobile, no request for charges against the officer was made to Police Commissioner Wilson today.

Motorcycle Officer John W. Van Denberg of the Charlestown station fired the shots. He declared that the roaring automobile at which he fired continued on after he ordered the occupants, four youths, to halt in Bunker Hill st.

The boys struck by the wild bullets are Frank Flaherty, 17, of 202 Bunker Hill st., shot through the right hand, and John McGowan, 14, of 44 School st., shot through the left arm.

The shooting occurred about 10.30 o'clock. Patrolman Van Denberg

SMITH FROWNS ON STRATON'S 'TOUR' PLAN

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 9—Governor Al Smith today was awaiting with keen interest a formal reply from the Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, New York, whom he challenged to debate after the clergyman had characterized him as the deadliest foe in America to moral progress.

Dr. Straton's suggestion that the debate take place in Madison Square Garden and that later they go through the South, debating Smith's political career, will be flatly rejected by the Governor, according to his advisors. The executive will insist that Dr. Straton permit him to defend his stand on moral issues from the pulpit of Calvary Church, where the attack originated.

In the event that Dr. Straton refuses to open his church to the Governor the latter plans to issue a formal statement, in which he will reply not only to the New York minister, but also to William Allen White, Kansas editor. White recently assailed the Governor, asserting that his record when a member of the State Assembly showed he always voted to protect the saloon and the liquor traffic.

Smith Urged to Use State Police in N. Y. Cleanup

New York, Aug. 9 (INS)—Use of the State police to clean up New York speakeasies was suggested to Governor Smith today by Orville S. Poland, head of the legal department of the New York branch of the Anti-Saloon League.

Poland suggested the Governor write to Mayor Walker, Dist. Atty. Bantou and Police Commissioner Warren the same letter he recently wrote Saratoga officials, threatening to remove them from office if they didn't clean up New York.

AIR MAIL SHIP ON TRIAL TRIP

Havre, France, Aug. 9—The steamship Ile de France, which will attempt to establish a regular ship-to-shore air mail service over the Atlantic, has sailed for New York.

On the upper deck, under a specially built windproof, tent, the liner carried a large catapult airplane which will be hurled into the air with its burden of mail, when the ship is 24 hours sailing from New York. A similar experiment will be made on the return of the European coast and regularly thereafter when the weather permits.

FIND FJORD FILLED WITH THOUSANDS OF ICEBERGS

By Associated Press

The Coast Guard cutter Marion in its exploration of ice conditions and ocean currents in the North Atlantic has reached a point off Greenland where the entrance to a fjord is filled with thousands of ice bergs. A radio message to the Associated Press from the Marion, picked up by William McClintock operating an amateur radio station at Westfield, N. J., says:

"Are now viewing the entrance of Jacobshavn fjord, which is literally jammed with thousands of bergs. We will move into North Atlantic eventually to endanger the steamship tracks.

"Commander Smith's next objective is an investigation of the Greenland ice cap and measurement of its movement toward the sea."

was parked on a side street off Bunker Hill st., assigned to assist in keeping the speedsters who have tormented the Charlestown district for weeks.

An automobile, racing at high speed, came up Bunker Hill st., past Dorr st. Van Denberg, who has an excellent reputation as a police officer, had his motorcycle parked near Sackville st.

He stepped into the center of the street, according to his report to his superior officers, and ordered the occupants of the machine to halt. He declares that he saw four young boys in the car.

Residents in the vicinity of where the shooting occurred differ from this version. They said that Van Denberg stood just off the curbstone and blew his whistle three times. Van Denberg stated that he did not recall blowing his whistle. His story was that he tried to stop the machine, that the driver turned the wheels toward him, increased the speed and fired a shot off.

STORIES DIFFER

Van Denberg reported that he fired five shots.

Residents declare that he fired a dozen.

Young Flaherty said he was in the doorway of his own home and that he had just stepped to the sidewalk when he heard three blasts of a policeman's whistle. Then he heard the shots and then one hit him in the hand. He fell to the sidewalk, screaming.

McGowan said that he was in Sackville st. when he heard shouts. "I just stepped onto Bunker Hill st.," he said, "when I heard a policeman's whistle go three times. Then I heard some shots and then I was hit. I wasn't in any automobile although the policeman tried to make me say that I was."

CALIFORNIA TO GIVE HOOVER BIG SENDOFF

Stanford University, Cal., Aug. 9—California will give Herbert Hoover a tumultous farewell as it sends him forth next week in quest of the presidency.

Leaving his home here a week from today, the Republican presidential nominee will be the center figure in receptions at Santa Barbara, Pasadena, Los Angeles and Long Beach.

At Long Beach he will be greeted by thousands of other native born Iowans gathered there for their annual picnic. Usually 30,000 to 40,000 persons attend.

Hoover had an engagement today with Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the notification committee.

Tomorrow he will confer with Dr. Hubert Work, chaieman of the Republican National Committee.

But the nominee has left his engagement book clear for Friday night, when the 54th anniversary of his birth will be celebrated. He will be the guest of newspaper correspondents who accompanied him across the continent at a birthday dinner at the Palo Alto Hotel, and later will join his family and other relatives.

The SECRET... of healthy children

... according to present-day dietitians

CHILDREN simply can't play too hard, mother. Not if you provide the proper food.

Just be sure you replenish all the energy they burn up. Then you'll have little cause for worry.

Provide White Rose Bread, for one thing. Often it is just the food that's needed. It is rich in calories. Packed with all the vital elements your growing children need.

It puts solid flesh on growing little bodies... hardens teeth... builds strong, sturdy bones and active minds.

White Rose Bread is splendid from the "housekeeping" point of view, too. It slices easily. Retains its freshness. Delights the most particular by its delicate, delicious flavor. Every loaf is made from carefully selected ingredients. Highest quality flour. Rich, wholesome milk. Pure cane sugar. That's why dietitians praise it so highly.

Now, Madam, a word of warning. At times you may be urged to accept some ordinary bread. Think, please, before you do.

Let your grocer distinctly understand that no bread but White Rose will satisfy. Do not trust your family's precious health to ordinary, untried brands.

It is at your grocer's, Madam, fresh twice daily. Continental Baking Company.

ED MARTIN OF SOMERVILLE takes a look at the pictures of "Jack the Giant Killer." Eddie is a lot brighter than most boys his age. "That's because I always watch his diet carefully," says Mrs. Martin. "Thus I replace lost energy by serving food of high calorie value." And that means White Rose Bread.

My big moment came when I won the American open championship at Olympia Fields but there was another moment in my life that seems no smaller, even now. The memory of it is with me yet, as fresh as though it happened yesterday, but it came to me in the important year of 1919.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

Over-rigid discipline and too much coddling, destroying a child's self-confidence, or causing him to feel fear are all faults which parents must avoid, according to one expert.

Last year saw a greater number of books issued in England than in any other year on record. There were 13,810, this is 608 more than in 1925, previously the record year.

Flints are still cut, or "knapped," at Brandon, in Norfolk, England, near tide town in Grimes Graves, where there are flint mines and the dwellings used by the miners who worked in them 3,000 years ago.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excessive acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any druggistore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

My six-year-old daughter, Rose, was helping me look for my eyeglasses. After a frantic search, we found them behind some books.

"Isn't it funny?" I remarked. "that we always find things in the last place we look for them?"

"Perhaps," suggested Rose, "it's because we stop looking for them after we have found them."

MRS. L. MILLER.
10 Verrill st., Dorchester.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS—

By HELEN ROWLAND

CONSIDER, my daughter, the way of a woman with a new house.

So, she shoppeth and sweepeth and teareth around early by day. And by night, she lieth awake, dreaming of curtains and draperies and wallpapers and colorschemes.

She planneth a new nule-nook on her way to church—and chuseth it around again during the sermon.

She matcheth cretonnes during the Doxology, and saith her prayers with one eye on heaven and the other on a new tea-set.

She goeth about with a shopping list in one hand and a hammer and a paint brush in the other. She revelleth in the opening of packages; she floateth in a sea of bargains and excelsior and new ideas.

Twenty times a day doth she rearrange the living-room rugs—and put them back again. Forty-seven times a day doth she find a new corner for the tea-wagon. And for the china closet. And for the easy chair.—Ah! for the Chinese lamp.

Behold, when her husband cometh in the evening, it is as though he walked in a strange land, amid strange and curious objects. He knoweth not his left hand from his right hand, nor where to find his favorite chair nor his one book in the closet.

When he ariseth in the night he is as one that wandereth in a strange and fearsome forest of furniture, which springeth at him from unexpected corners and maimeth him in new places.

His pips and his shoes and his brushes become nomads, wandering from room to room and from place to place. They are more elusive than the hare and fleeter than the fawn.

Lo, upon Saturday afternoon he giveth up his golf game, and hangeth all the pictures at his wife's command.

But upon Sunday morning, he taketh them all down again, one by one, and hangeth them in different places. For they are never right the first time.

In the morning, he ariseth and setteth up the twin beds in the guest-room. But in the evening, he moveth them over to the other side of the wall, where they "look more natural."

And not until his wife's heart and eyes are satisfied is there rest and peace and tranquility within the house.

Thus, my daughter, is a house transformed into a home.

For a house consisteth of four walls and sticks of furniture and pieces of crockery and yards of cretone. But a home is born of the toil and travail of a woman's soul and the dreams of her heart. Selah!

What Has Gone Before—Elsie, restless and miserable, decides to call on Lady Rosewater and ask her what is the big idea of keeping Sir Harry Doncaster away from his wife and baby all this time.

"OH! why not some of the pain to her and some of the joy to me?" murmured Elsie as she peered into the looking glass and saw the rebellious tears forcing themselves through her slender lashes.

Placing her babe in its carriage and adjusting the ruffled sunbonnet, she carefully descended the steps, crossed the street and rang the bell at Lady Rosewater's mansion.

Soon the door opened and there stood Sir Harry Doncaster, a scowl, a sneer, a jibe, a taunt on his face.

bank, with a big roll of money, does not pick quarrels.

It would be hard for them to believe it, but let the Rockefellers, all but a few, OWN something, and their view of capitalistic government would change. Sad, but that is how men are made.

Uncle Sam found various interesting things, including poisoned whiskey that would kill in a few hours, in his raids on New York's "select" cabarets.

His agents paid $25 a quart for "champagne," described as "cider with gas in it."

They found little ladies dancing in economical clothing, plenty of men drank and "hostesses" directing "bouncers."

The bootleg business has opened up a new world, different from the "Harry Hills" and "Billy McGlory's" of ancient New York days.

Big railroad unions refuse to indorse either Smith or Hoover, letting each local take whatever action it pleases. The workers made an exception in indorsing the re-election of Judge Florence E. Allen, of Ohio, only woman that ever sat on the Supreme Court bench.

POWER TRUST'S 'CENSORSHIP' REVEALED

Washington, Aug. 9—An undercover censorship of newspaper editorials and news matter carried out through interchange of reports and influence among State propaganda directors of the electric power corporations, was disclosed in Federal Trade Commission records.

This machinery was set in motion when the Angels (find) Herald published an editorial last December supporting the demand of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana for an investigation of public utilities.

STIRRED BY EDITORIAL.

"If there were not more fire in the Walsh resolution than most people suspect, the opposition would not be so strenuous," the Herald said.

"The purpose of the Walsh resolution is to prevent them the utilities] fattening on the people billions of dollars of worthless security issues on which they will demand dividends."

William Stokes, manager of the Indiana Public Utilities Association, wrote E. Frank Gardiner, publicity director of the Midland Utilities Company, Chicago:

"Doubtless you will have received this through your own sources, but I thought it might be possible that you did not. I would like to have you advise me if the attitude taken by the Herald in this instance is typical of what they have thought in the past."

"And if there is any particular history in connection with this viewpoint I would appreciate knowing what it is.

"I shall do everything possible from this office in attempt to educate this newspaper with a view towards changing its mind some day if possible."

Gardiner replied:

"Mr. Willis (the Herald owner) is very friendly and this particular editorial, I am sure, does not reflect his personal views. We advertise in both papers. I regard the printing of this editorial as a slip and I, therefore, do not see any occasion to take the matter up with him."

J. B. Sheridan, Missouri propagandist, reported to H. C. Hopson, manager of the Sedalia, Mo., City Light and Traction Company:

"Many thanks for your favor of April 14 with that wonderful editorial from the Sedalia Democrat attached.

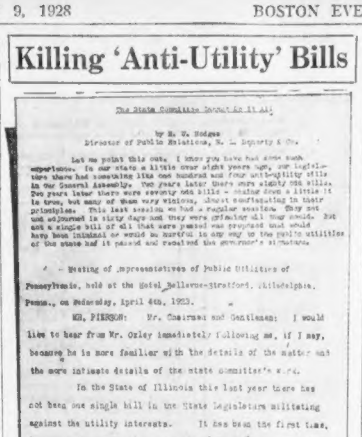
THAT WONDERFUL EDITORIAL.

"As I see it, you reached Sedalia about noon on April 13 and the editorial appeared in the issue of Sunday, April 15. I am glad the colonel was stimulated enough to put out such a marvelous editorial, and when that reaches 60 Wall st. the H. M. Doherty Company should see there ought to be something doing.

"Something like a 100 per cent. increase in the salary of the manager of the City Light & Traction Company, together with a nice block of stock.

"I wish we could stimulate other editors in Missouri to write editorials like that."

Killing 'Anti-Utility' Bills



The State Committee Devoted to It All

by H. W. Hodges
Director of Public Relations, N. Y. Edgerly & Co.

Let me point this out. I know you have had some such experience. If you were a little over eight years ago, our legislature there had something like one hundred and four anti-utility bills in our General Assembly. Two years later there were seventy odd bills. Two years later there were seventy odd bills—making down a little—is true, but many of them very vicious, almost confiscating in their principles. The last session we had a regular session. They met and adjourned in sixty days and they were extending all they could. But not a single bill of all that were pressed was projected and consideration has been finished or would be harmful in any way to the public utilities of the state had it passed and reached the governor's attention.

A meeting of representatives of Public Utilities of Pennsylvania, held at the Hotel Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia, Penna., on Wednesday, April 4th, 1923.

MR. PIERSON: Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: I would like to hear from Mr. Orley immediately following me, if I may, because he is more familiar with the details of the matter and the more intimate details of the state committee's work.

In the State of Illinois this last year there has not been one single bill in the State Legislature militating against the utility interests. It has been the first time, I understand, in the history of the State that that has been the case, and the Illinois Committee takes unto itself a fair proportion of the credit for keeping down that condition.

MR. ORLEY: So find a very strong thing in the fact that the State commissioners really are very much in sympathy with this move. They always have been after the thing has been started, and after they have been educated to it. That is my view of it, and I think it is also the view of Mr. Kylesworth and the officers and the employees of some of the other national organizations who come in contact with enough commissioners.

So, we can say pretty freely and frankly that they are very much in sympathy with it. It makes their work easy.

SINCE propaganda bureaus were set up by the power interests about eight years ago, many State law-making bodies enact little or no legislation that the public utilities do not want enacted, the propagandists boast. Earl W. Hodges, former propaganda director in Arkansas, here tells how "anti-utility" bills have disappeared in that State. Another propagandist, addressing a meeting of Pennsylvania utility men, declared that during a recent session in Illinois "there has not been one single bill in the State Legislature militating against the utility interests." The Illinois propaganda committee, he says, "takes unto itself a fair proportion of the credit." George F. Oxley, chief propagandist of the National Electric Light Association, tells the same meeting that State regulating commissions favor the operation of propaganda committees and bureaus—"It makes their work easy." These facsimiles are extracts from reports in the Federal Trade Commission investigation.

State Labor Urges Power Probe

Copies of the resolve were sent to State labor branches in the other New England states, together with a supplementary resolution, urging them to take similar action.

The resolution adopted by the Massachusetts branch condemns power trust organizations throughout the country for the part the monopolies the electric power operators have thrust upon the public in Massachusetts and almost every other State in the Union.

In a conference held after the daily session of the convention, Martin T. Joyce, secretary-treasurer and legislative agent of the Massachusetts branch, and Harry A. Russell, secretary-treasurer of Massachusetts State branch of Operating Engineers and New England representative of the Workers Education Bureau, both denounced power trusts.

PRAISE HEARST POLICY

They scored the methods used by power trusts in getting control of public opinion through propaganda they make with public officials who are elected or appointed to protect the masses.

Both officials of the labor organization have made an exhaustive study of the public utilities in this State and they issued a statement endorsing the policy of the Hearst newspapers for the fight they are waging throughout the country.

They commended the Hearst newspapers for exposing the power trust and bringing before the people the huge organizations backed by the power interests for the daily pushing out propaganda to further their own selfish interests, to "milk the people by high rates and to force the various communities into unfair contracts, franchises and agreements."

The resolution, which was submitted by Joyce and was passed by the convention, reads and ought to be sent to Governor Fuller, is as follows:

WHEREAS the electrical industry has grown by leaps and bounds, doubling every five years to until it represents an investment of over eight billion dollars. A few generations ago, the invention of the steam engine brought on what is known in economic history as the industrial revolution. Far more completely than steam ever did, electric power is revolutionizing the industrial life of mankind. Next to a supply of natural resources sufficient to feed, clothe, and shelter our people, this is the greatest of modern necessities which fave the people of this nation today. The efficient home of today is the electric; the efficient industry today is the electric industry. In communication, in transportation, on the farm, and in the distribution of necessities and luxuries of our daily life, electricity is used, and

WHEREAS a nationwide, in fact, a worldwide, movement is under way and swiftly gathering force, the purpose of which is to completely monopolize for private gain the production and distribution of this indispensable agent. The activity during the past few years in the organization of electric power operating companies in various power groups is remarkable.

RESOLVED, that the Massachusetts State branch in convention assembled petition the Governor of this State to appoint a committee to investigate the electrical power companies in Massachusetts and to make a complete survey of the power development possibilities within the State and that he seek the cooperation of the governors of all the New England States to have appointed a joint board for the purpose of making a complete survey of the power development possibilities throughout New England, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be sent to the Massachusetts branches of the A. F. of L., with the request that they adopt similar action for the general welfare of New England.

NEED WATCHING

In explaining his resolution before the convention, Martin T. Joyce, said:

"For several months I have been closely following the Hearst exposé on nation-wide power trust activities and it is of great importance to the general public to acquaint themselves with the facts brought out by these interests to gain complete control of public utilities.

"If the general public, especially the working man, who eventually pays the bill, does not take cognizance of what is being done by these power trust interests now, and get into the matter, the future will find the worker burdened beyond his physical and financial strength.

"Harry A. Russell, secretary-treasurer of Massachusetts State Branch of Operating Engineers, and New England representative of the Workers Education Bureau, and I have held several conferences during the past three months on legislative matters we are working on for the next session of the General Court. These conferences have resulted in a number of Corrections Bantord Rates by Howard R. Hill, superintendent of the colony, it was revealed.

The shake-up follows an investigation carried on during the past seven weeks by Gill, following the receipt of information that certain strict rules in the prison colony have been flagrantly disobeyed and failed to receive the attention of officials over a long period.

Accused of $467,000 Theft

New York, Aug. 9 (INS)—Cornelius Callahan, assistant secretary of the Banstlaly Corporation, who is accused of the theft of $467,000 from the bank, is on his way from Canada to New York today in custody of detectives to answer an indictment returned by the New York County grand jury.

FREE TICKETS FOR 'OUR GANG'

Invitation cards have been sent by the "Our Gang" contest editor of the Boston Evening American, to all the children who were entered in the recent resemblance contest, to participate in the local film to be made at Normanbeg Park, August 20, 21 and 22. These cards will serve as free admissions to the children regarding their entries. Children are also to be treated free to refreshments and will be allowed to enjoy the amusements at the park without cost.

In the meantime the six New England children who were chosen as "doubles" of the originals of the original Gang are to be coached for their leading roles in the picture which is to be filmed at Normanbeg. All other children interest in the contest will be permitted to take part in the scenes calling for a large number of kiddies.

CHARLESTOWN STATE PRISON HAS SHAKEUP

Four inmates of the State prison colony at Norfolk have been sent back to the Charlestown State Prison, one prison employe and a domestic have been dropped from the rolls of the institution, two employes have resigned, as a result of charges of irregularities placed in the hands of Commissioner of Corrections Sanford Bates by Howcities and have not accurately reflected the majority of public opinion. The count of mail will reach into every town, village and hamlet and will approximate, as far as humanly possible, the ultimate election in November.

All possible sources of inaccuracies are to be eliminated in the nation-wide canvass. The main stumbling-block to be guarded against—duplications and repeating—are provided for. The effect is that these hazards have been eliminated.

All other weaknesses characteristic of so many straw votes have been carefully studied and methods devised to reduce them to a negligible quantity.

The plan, then, which is as error-proof as it seems humanly possible to make it, is the undertaking of this kind and of such scope is being carried out under the direction of the following Hearst newspapers:

Boston Evening American.
Boston Sunday Advertiser.
Chicago Herald and Examiner.
Seattle Post-Intelligencer.
San Francisco Examiner.
Oakland Post Inquirer.
Los Angeles Examiner.
San Antonio Light.
Omaha Bee-News.
Milwaukee-Wisconsin News.
Detroit Times.
Atlanta Georgian.
Washington (D. C.) Herald.
Baltimore News.
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.
New York American.
Rochester (N. Y.) Journal.
11 American Weekly.

Previous straw votes have been confined largely to the great cities and thickly populated rural districts adjoining urban centers. One of the big problems confronting the politicians today is: "How will the farmer vote?" The test ballots of the Hearst newspapers will endeavor to furnish an answer to this before the votes are counted next November.

In the doubtful states every section will be canvassed.

Women as well as men will be given an opportunity of expressing their preference.

Above all, the ballot will be secret. No effort will be made to ascertain how any individual votes.

Still Unanswered

Who Made a MOTORMAN Out of an Elevated Guard With a Record of 34 Reprimands?

If we have read intelligently the report of Chairman Samuel E. Powers to His Excellency the Governor it is the determined belief of the Board of Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway that no three arbitrators alive would agree to the dismissal of an employe of that organization who has been tardy or missing 94 times.

Reference is made, of course, to the unfortunate motorman who figured in the wreck of Sunday, July 22nd.

This employe had been suspended twice and reprimanded 37 times.

The Trustees, in their report, apparently set up the plea that their "hands are tied." As Chairman Powers states it:

"We have not a free hand in the discharge of an employe who has rights under this agreement.' (Referring to a contract with the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, "inherited" by the trustees from the former management of the Elevated.)

"We cannot discharge such an employe against his protest unless we can secure the approval of a board of arbitration composed of three arbitrators, one of whom is selected by the employe whose discharge is sought.

"It is highly improbable that an arbitration board so constituted would have approved the discharge of McDonald upon his record as it stood prior to the accident of July 22. . . ."

That may all be and yet we should like to submit to a board of arbitration made up of Mr. William D. Mahon, the international president of the Amalgamated; former Representative P. F. Sheehan of Brockton, also an officer of the union, and any "blue uniform" man in the Elevated organization, the question whether a guard with such a record as that before us was worthy of PROMOTION TO THE RANK OF MOTORMAN?

A first reading of the report of Mr. Powers and we were convinced that the Trustees KNEW of the worthlessness of arbitration because they had tried it again and again and again.

In this we were in error. We are set right by the statement of former Senator James H. Vahey, long the helpful advocate of the international union. According to Mr. Vahey:

"During the 16 years of the existence of a union connected with this company there have been about five arbitration cases for discipline. The boards of arbitration are selected by the company and the union, and neither side has more rights than the other.

"THE UNION DOESN'T WANT ANY UNFIT MAN TO WORK FOR THE COMPANY. IT HAS NEVER INSISTED ON THIS POINT AND DOES NOT NOW."

It was well to have these things stated by a man who knows the facts as Senator Vahey knows them.

In the past few days many outside things have been brought into the discussion of this wreck. Some have seized upon it as something with which to discredit Public Control. It now appears that the arbitration agreement with the union was "inherited" by the Trustees from the "previous management." One earnest critic carries on in such a way as to suggest that what this community craves is a strike on the Elevated.

Steady!

The question this newspaper would like to see answered is how a GUARD, with a record of having been tardy or missing 94 times, etc., etc., came to be promoted to motorman and placed IN CHARGE OF A TRAIN.

Chairman Powers does well to call attention to the fact that the 168 WOODEN cars in the possession of the Elevated when the Trustees took possession have all been REPLACED BY STEEL.

He directs attention to these replacements as a "direct contribution to the safety of the public."

That is what they are. The Trustees are to be commended for them.

They "prevented the tragedy of July 22nd," he says, "from being even worse than it was."

Beyond a doubt.

And he points out, further, that in 27 years of operation over the elevated structure the accident of July 22nd was the FIRST IN WHICH A PASSENGER LOST HIS LIFE.

Unquestionably a record to be proud of and upon which to congratulate ourselves.

And yet the question remains:

How came a GUARD, with THIS guard's record, to be promoted to a place of such responsibility as that of MOTORMAN ON THE ELEVATED STRUCTURE?

Public control or private, arbitration or none, does not explain that promotion.

Who made it and why?

One Pair of Shoulders

Do GOVERNORS Ever Go on Strike?

As the strike of the cotton mill operatives of New Bedford approaches the beginning of a fifth month the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration begins an investigation with the object of placing responsibility for the disturbance.

This inquiry, we learn, MAY become as labored and painstaking as an examination by a committee of Congress; may take up such questions as Southern competition, the tariff, the effect of feminine fashion upon the industry, the efficiency or inefficiency of local management and "investment in unnecessary equipment."

It looks like a large order

Putting aside the question of expense, when might we expect to learn the finding of the Commission? In November of this year, or in March of next?

What the workers of New Bedford want, what the share-

SOME PEOPLE ARE BORN EXPLORERS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

NIETZSCHE tells us, "Live dangerously. Build your house on the side of a volcano."

There are two kinds of people. The ideal of one kind is peace, quiet, and a home with geraniums in the front yard.

There are those who idealize a peaceful existence and there are those who are never happy except in engaging in adventure.

Many people want thrills. Some people are born explorers and pioneers, and some seek settled and civilized communities.

Amelia Earhart, who some time ago flew across the Atlantic, was never happy unless expressing herself in adventure.

Few know the joys of courage except the courageous. Their ambition is to die in "the doubtful ridges of the battle."

Miss Earhart was a settlement worker, but hardly could endure settling.

She thus describes her outlook on life:

"Courage is the price that life exacts for granting peace.
The soul that knows it not,
Knows no release from little things;

Knows not the livid loneliness of fear,
Nor mountain heights where bitter joy can hear,
The sound of wings.

How can life grant us boon of living, compensate
For dull gray ugliness and pregnant hate,
Unless we dare

The soul's dominion? Each time we make a choice we pay,
With courage to behold resistless day,
And count it fair."

There are those who think women properly should occupy a secluded place in society. But women have been rapidly coming to the front. Recent exploits of women have done much to give the holders of old-fashioned ideas occasion for thought.

Women are in business, stores and offices, women have invaded the professions and now a woman has flown across the Atlantic.

Mr. Elmer, a former naval aviation officer, was in charge of the preparations and he fitted the plane with the last word in flying, navigating and radio equipment in preparation for the flight. The plane was built at the famous Fokker plant in Holland. Pontoons were fitted to it to make it a seaplane, and it carried instruments arranged to the best advantage.

Mr. Elmer said, "I think the Friendship was the safest and best equipped airplane ever to attempt an ocean flight."

All of which goes to show that an important part of luck is not only courage but proper preparation.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

DO NOT PERMIT YOURSELF TO ACCEPT PITY—EITHER FROM YOURSELF OR ANY OTHER MAN.

PITY IS THE MOST DANGEROUS FORM OF EMOTIONAL CHARITY.

It may seem to comfort you at first, but beware of such comfort for it will turn you into a spiritual bum—a whining weakling, ever on the watch for handouts.

If you MUST kill yourself shamefully take to drink or dope or wild women. But don't take to pity.

Drink and dope and wild women will destroy your body but they will leave some remnant of pride and hope in you—some savor of honor to your name.

BUT PITY WILL GET YOU ENTIRELY.

It doesn't matter what fate has done to you—

You may be crippled in body—broken financially — shocked and despoiled by life—robbed by death of the thing that was dearest to you—

Still within you there will remain something that is unbeaten, something that may inspire respect and command service—

AND STILL YOU MAY COME BACK IF YOU DON'T ACCEPT PITY.

Remember Henley's cry — "INVICTUS?"

"Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

"In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced or cried aloud.
Under the bludgeoning of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.

"Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unafraid.

"It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll,
I am the master of my fate;
I am the captain of my soul."
WILLIAM ERNEST HENLEY.

Those are noble words. Make them YOUR words.

Stand up straight in your rags! Stand, unquivering, in your wounds!

God alone knows what's around the corner. God alone knows if there's ANYTHING around the corner.

BUT THIS MOMENT IS YOURS; AND YOUR SOUL IS YOURS. WHATEVER FATE MAY HAVE DONE TO YOUR BODY OR YOUR PURSE, HOLD FAST TO THAT PROUD TREASURE. DO NOT TRADE IT FOR ANY MAN'S PITY.

INDECISION MEANS FAILURE

By LUCY LOWELL.

WE hear a great deal about the individual sometimes called the "wavering man"; the person whom psychology classes as one unable to make a decision, recording him as a "case" under the long and imposing name of a certain neurosis.

This is the one who often goes along in apparent serenity until brought face to face with the necessity of making any sort of choice, great or small, when his brain swirls into confusion and he can neither think nor act.

The wavering man, of course, always is the one afraid of responsibility. He gyrates from one course to the other because he fears he may take the wrong one.

He is the one not taught by experience or by thought that it is better to act and make mistakes than never to act at all, that those capable of the greatest good also are capable of the greatest error and that only egotism causes one to shrink from sometimes being placed in the wrong.

The wavering man is the leaner, always looking for someone else to do his thinking for him—someone whom he may blame if things go badly.

He must learn that to be himself is a privilege as well as a duty and that he surrenders a great part of his individuality with the shirking of responsibility.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Law is the science in which the greatest powers of the understanding are applied to the greatest number of facts.—Johnson.

Those forms are best which have been longest received and authorized in a nation by custom and use.—Temple.

A child will learn three times as fast when he is in tune, as he will when he is dragged to his task.—Locke.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—Sophistication is supposed to reach its pinkest bloom in New York. Perhaps it does, but metropolitan sophistry is confined almost solely to amusing unessentials. The bachelor who is master of the frostiest cocktail is labeled a sophisticate.

Likewise the precisionist who insists upon a certain temperature for his bath. Or the fellow who would be desolated without brandy in his post-prandial coffee. What is so often rated sophistication is nothing more than affectation—a pose.

People go to the theater an hour late and rudely disturb the play. They puff cigarettes in elevators and hotel and theater foyers. Men pay fabulous sums for ringside tables.

And these flourishes come under the head of worldly nonchalance. In reality they are glorified small town smart aleciams. The cracker barrel comic in front of the general store is blood brother to the cavorting master of ceremonies in the Broadway night club.

Most hinterland antagonism toward New York is based on the city-slicker complex. It does not seem to realize that in the majority of instances the city slicker is an expert knocker in urban settings. The real New York is little removed from the hick hamlet.

On account of its mammoth size, the accumulative wickedness gives it the supersaturated proportions of a modern Babylon. And somehow the metropolis has always been able to dramatize itself and take on a role of great glamour. But that is acting.

When one pierces the shiny armor, there is much of the stiff-necked New England village about the city. I know a man who resides in a Broadway hotel who will not turn on the radio on Sunday. And thousands of New York women look upon flappers who smoke like the Mauretania docking, with disgust.

DOWNTOWN New Yorkers little realize the bustling progress that has sprung up in the past few years on the upper tip of Manhattan Island. A short distance from Spuyten Duyvil, around Broadway and 231st st., is a community as lively almost as that around Harlem's 125th st. The section is ramparted with enormous apartment houses with Pullman car names and uniformed door flunkies. There are theaters, cafes, movies and even night clubs. Smart specialty shops reflect the Fifth ave. modes, and coming down town to shop is no longer so necessary.

THERE are enterprising city salesmen in New York who cover their territory in the manner of salesmen covering a state. To be early on the job they go from hotel to hotel in various districts. Weekends are spent at home.

A BUSINESS man at lunch yesterday told of calling his executives into conference and announcing his plan for a year's vacation. All agreed with enthusiasm he should take the rest. Indeed, there was too much enthusiasm, and, over night, he decided to remain on the job.

TO me his attitude was unjust. Employers like to prattle about the desire for employes who are not "overseed." But the fate of the majority of those who oppose the boss is a dreary hunt for a job. So the wise ones "yes."

I ONCE wrote a critical letter to the publisher of a newspaper on which I was employed. The effort was to show how his journal might be improved. It developed the letter was the first intimation he had I was working for him, and he immediately fired that up. The next day I wasn't.

Actors and Talkies

No Good Invention Hurts Anybody

Talking movies giving complete plays, perhaps with color added by the Eastman process, will be sent "on the road," and troupes of live actors will stay home.

The Actors' Equity Association looks for a slump with hard times coming for actors, but that's a mistake.

No great invention ever hurt anybody. The best actors will make more money in talking moving pictures than they ever made. The second-class men will do as well or better.

First and second-class will be able to rest and exercise while the film does the work.

holders in the mills should ask for, what the New Bedford public should demand, is a SPEEDY settlement.

The best thing the parties at interest can do, in the opinion of a friendly newspaper, is take advantage of Governor Fuller's offer to set up a special tribunal of arbitration.

There are aspects of the situation in New Bedford which no thoughtful good citizen can look upon with anything but apprehension.

Would a committee of 100 progressive men and women of Massachusetts be of help to the Governor?

How much more are we going to ask this ONE MAN to carry, unaided?

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THIS summer noon I saw a garden-plot, and though the sun was bright, a something strange and lonely in the spot hinted of cold and night. It was a weed-choked and deserted place, where no gay songbirds came to fill its walks with melody and grace and beauty like a flame. It was a ghostly garden-plot, where went dim shapes from years gone by and yet (such was their magic spell) they lent their bloom to earth and sky.
